A release of about 5,000 bottles, the Alessio Dorigo 2018 Friuli Colli Orientali Chardonnay Ronc di Juri is very faithful to the variety. Aged in French oak barrique for 12 months, it shows ripe fruit and golden apple with softer notes of pastry cream and toasted almond. Those ripe fruit nuances are nicely fleshed out by oaky tones of cinnamon and nutmeg, and the overall effect is pleasantly balanced and smooth. That spicy touch of acidic makes for a fitting close to the abundant fruit and a nice pairing partner to a golden fried artichoke.
